

World Domination-Get The Facts...

"Being an achiever in anything you do, is little more than the focussed execution of a learned skill set. Achieving dominance, requires the achiever to have passion, perseverance, an open minded willingness to learn and adapt, as well as the ability to have and hold on to a vision."

H.Brett, 2005

Dominating the World Wide Web, is not as difficult, costly, and nerve racking as many Search Engine Optimization (SEO) experts and self proclaimed "Web Marketing Gurus" would lead you to believe. It does however require the "focussed execution of a learned skill set", combined with "an open minded willingness to learn and adapt, as well as the ability to have and hold on to a vision." If you don't have the latter, STOP... go no further... this article is not going to help you! If you have the "open minded willingness to learn and adapt, as well as the ability to have and hold on to a vision", and would like to add a few tools to your skill set, keep reading...

First step on the path to dominance is to become an achiever. To become an achiever, requires learning a skill set, applying it daily in an effort to perfect it. "Perfection is an ongoing process which never ceases... there is always a better, more efficient method of executing any skill set... Evolution is the living proof."

There are several ways to acquire and perfect any chosen skill set. Well, there is the obvious method of accumulating theoretical knowledge through reading and having a somewhat experienced textbook teacher sharing their experiences, which for you equate to additional theory. Then there is the most important part of actually doing, repeating, improving, and so on... Ideally, for this part you'll get a coach, or better yet, a mentor. Easier said than done. Truly successful SEO masters, are too pre-occupied with learning and practicing, perfecting their skills, and becoming more successful, to donate their time to you. Most publicly proclaimed so called SEO "Gurus" are better at taking your money than they are at SEO... they are just out to sell you a $37, $97 or $147 course on SEO, offering a 30-90 day satisfaction guarantee, knowing full well, over 95% of customers don't end up requesting refunds even when they feel like they've been had. Well I have no interest in marketing SEO courses. And to be totally honest, I don't have the time to mentor anyone on any topic... and frankly, if it were not beneficial to me, I wouldn't even be sharing this info... so appreciate the fact that this is therefore truly of mutual benefit... I will explain.

Now before I get you to blindly invest anymore of your valuable time, let me give you a quick background on how and where I developed the skill set I am about to share with you... this way you can judge whether or not you wish to continue along this path.

My name is Howard Brett, this for the record, is my real name, not a stage name to hide behind. I am a real person, sharing real results... No BS. Please note, I am publishing this article on the DocStuey account, because I am legally entitled to do so, although I am not DocStuey. A good friend of mine recently required my services to help launch a monumental project. Part of this effort required developing a grass roots web presence.

About the Author

Explanation of the diet, menus, sources of foods containing gluten, and message board for questions.

Source: <http://productsherbal.com>